Job Description
The College of Education invites applications for a tenure-track/tenured Professor of Educational Leadership and Policy Studies. Preference is to hire at the Associate Professor level, with tenure, but we will consider candidates at the advanced tenure-track Assistant Professor level.

- Leadership Focus: We seek a scholar whose research addresses leadership and/or administration, broadly defined.
- Intersectional Justice: Applicants must demonstrate commitment to intersectional justice through their research, teaching, and/or service.
- Scholarly Productivity: We seek a seasoned scholar who has published extensively in educational administration and/or policy academic journals.
- Doctoral Advising: Applicants must have an interest in and capacity to begin advising doctoral students in the first year of appointment.

Minimum Qualifications
Applicants must have an earned doctorate in educational leadership, educational policy, or a related field.

Preferred Qualifications
- Bridge K-12 and Higher Education: We are especially interested in applicants whose work addresses issues in both K-12 and higher education administration.
- Leadership Experience: We are especially interested in applicants who have served as K-12 school leaders or higher education administrators.
- Externally Funded Research: We are excited about applicants who have demonstrated the ability to raise external funds to support their research.

Appointment: Tenure-track, associate professor, nine-month appointment beginning August 18, 2022

Formal review of applications will begin November 29, 2021, and continue until the position is filled.
